Digital Health Startup Pitch – Ubiquitous healthcare
Delivery

Virtual Event | November 11, 2021 (4:40 pm – PT)

2021 WAFSF

We brought together over 1,000 cross-sector and cross-industry leaders from the United States and Japan to discuss healthcare technologies and policy last year. This year our online conference covers a range of topics including: infectious disease crises, microbiome, bio-foundry, lifestyle and healthy longevity. Participants will hear the latest developments in advanced health technologies such as digital health. The conference will cover a potential cure for dementia and cancers through drug delivery technology, and will also highlight the latest funding status for cutting-edge medical technology. Moreover, the conference will discuss an advanced technology development hub in Hong Kong, which is recently attracting the most attention globally, and WAF's initiative of public interest capitalism in the Asian region aiming at realizing a healthy and long-lived society. Following the effort from last year of eradicating cancer, we would like further to advance cooperation between Japan and the United States and involve China and Hong Kong in this cooperative circle.

The ultimate goal of WAFSF is to create a society where everyone leads a healthy life – both mentally and physically – until his/her last moment. Fostering such collaboration is one of the main objectives of this Forum.
